

Photographies and Histories of Ireland in the 20th Century

Announcement published by Justin Carville on Friday, April 22, 2022

Type:

Call for Papers

Date:

July 22, 2022

Location:

Ireland {Republic}

Subject Fields:

Art, Art History & Visual Studies, Humanities, Social Sciences, Cultural History / Studies, Colonial and Post-Colonial History / Studies

Photographies and Histories of Ireland in the short 20th Century.

Date: 22 July 2022

Location: Dublin Castle, Dublin, Ireland.

The 13th edition of PhotoIreland Festival proposes a conversation 'On the History and Practice of Photography in Ireland' through a programme of exhibitions and events running from 7th July to 28th August. In this context, a series of Think Tanks are being hosted to tease out the complexities of the History as much as of the discipline.

Proposals are invited for a day workshop on photographic histories of Ireland in the twentieth century. The workshop proposes to explore histories of photographic practices, technologies, exhibitions and archives from 1910 to 1990. There is no prescribed theme and the scope of proposals are open to any aspect of photographic culture, and proposals for focused case studies of specific photographers and/or images are welcomed along with broader thematic papers that may critically assess methods and methodologies of the historiography of photography in Ireland across the period of partition and its aftermath or take a comparative approach to the photography and its histories.

Proposed papers do not have to follow any formal approach or methodology and can be focused on the historical or sociological aspects of photography and its uses, photographic forms and aesthetics, institutional uses of the photographic image and their archiving. Proposals are welcomed that address the cultural politics of the photographic image in state formation from the period of partition alongside papers that explore hidden or unexplored histories of photography throughout the twentieth century. Proposals may not focus solely on Irish photographers and proposals that explore international photographers working in Ireland or Irish photographers working in any geographical location are encouraged.

How to participate

Proposals are encouraged from museum, gallery and archive professionals as well as graduate students and early career researchers. Proposals of original, previously unpublished papers may consider;

- Photography for and against the state
- Photography and regionalism/local history
- Photographies and their institutions
- Religion and photography
- Photography and tourism
- Photographic archives
- Press photography
- Photography and Conflict
- Photography and Architecture/Urban Space
- Representations of gender and race
- Historiographies of women's photography
- Photography and its publications
- Modernism/modernity and photography
- Photographic exhibitions and art movements
- Photography and identitarian politics
- Photography and Activism

This workshop is convened by Justin Carville in collaboration with PhotoIreland and proposals of 300 words with a short bio should be submitted via email attachment to photoireland.call.2022@gmail.com no later than May 20th 2022.

See; <https://edu.photoireland.org/research/think-tank-on-histories-i/> for further details

Contact Info:

justin.carville@iadt.ie

Contact Email:

photoireland.call.2022@gmail.com

URL:

<https://edu.photoireland.org/research/think-tank-on-histories-i/>