

Changes Coming for Teaching History: A Journal of Methods

Discussion published by Stephen Kneeshaw on Friday, December 18, 2015

On January 1, 2016, the leadership team of Teaching History: A Journal of Methods will undergo its first major transition in forty years. Stephen Kneeshaw of College of the Ozarks, Editor since the first issue appeared in 1976, will retire at the end of the year. The new Editor will be Sarah Drake Brown of Ball State University. At the same time, Richard Hughes of Illinois State University will become Book Review Editor. For inquiries about publishing in Teaching History, contact Sarah Drake Brown from this point forward.

We invite you to share with us essays that describe new and challenging approaches to teaching as well as time-honored methods that still help you make good connections to students. Please send manuscripts as attachments to email to sedrakebrown@bsu.edu ... Thank you.

Please make note of the new addresses for the Editor and BRE of Teaching History:
