

Southern Workers Power Program: In Focus

Announcement published by James Pope on Friday, September 2, 2022

Type:

Symposium

Date:

September 5, 2022

Location:

North Carolina, United States

Subject Fields:

American History / Studies, Black History / Studies, Labor History / Studies, Human Rights, Intellectual History

We are excited to invite you to join an upcoming webinar series led by Communiversi, an educational partner of Black Workers for Justice in collaboration with the Southern Workers Assembly, that will explore and discuss the nine points of the Southern Workers Power Program.

The series begins on Monday, September 5, 2022 [7PM EST U.S.] and will continue every following Monday until October 31, 2022.

Register to participate here

This series of nine (9) webinars will explore SWA's Worker's Program, centering and exploring the historic role of workers in our contemporary moment.

The primary objective of this series of programs is to explore SWA's Worker's Power Program as a viable platform for workers in the South to collectively build and consolidate worker's power. As well as learn more about current and key sites of organizing across the South.

We will explore actions taken and their results; the historical context and connection of workers struggle to the Black liberation movement; ways to build strong political education on the key issues outlined in the nine-point program; and how it can aid in organizing and building a movement of workers to wage struggle against the accelerated destructive forces of capitalism.

We invite you to join us every Monday from September 5 to October 31, 7pm - 8pm EST. Please note your registration will automatically register you for all nine webinars.

We look forward to connecting and engaging with each of you to build worker power in the South, as a step toward global worker solidarity!

Organize the South!

Contact Email:

popejr@wssu.edu

URL:

https://www.eventbrite.com/e/southern-workers-power-program-in-focus-webinar-series-tickets-409106447397?link_id=3&can_i...