The established theme - "Material/Immaterial" - will remain the same, but note that the conference location has changed: we will now be gathering at California State University, Northridge.

In the interest of increased access and accessibility to our conference, we will offer in-person and virtual options for attendants and presenters, including robust A/V tech support for those presenting their papers in person.

Proposals for fully formed panels and individual papers are due by November 15, 2022. Please indicate whether you prefer to attend in person or virtually and send an abstract (approx. 250 words) to WSECS2023@gmail.com.
