

QUERY> E. Conze's Memoirs, Part III

Discussion published by Matthew Kapstein on Tuesday, October 4, 2022

Dear friends,

In the preface to his Memoirs of a Modern Gnostic, the late Edward Conze tells us that the third and final part of his memoirs "cannot be published in my lifetime, and must wait for the 21st Century." Now that we're there, has this "libellous, brutally frank" work ever become available? I imagine that it's quite unpleasant if it in fact exists, but of interest for gaining a better understanding of its highly opinionated author.

Responses off-list are welcome.
