Exploring Leadership in Latin America

10-12 August 2016 | Lima Perú

Details: www.ila-net.org/go/Lima

Submit Proposal: <http://convention2.allacademic.com/one/ila/peru16/index.php>

The ILA is pleased to partner with the Universidad del Pacífico in Lima Perú on this important topical conference Exploring Leadership in Latin America. Bringing together leadership scholars and researchers, educators and students, coaches and consultants, and public leaders and executives, this conference will ask participants to consider — particularly within a Latin American context — questions related to leadership, transformation, and change. Please review the complete call for proposals for more information about the conference goals.

We invite you to submit a proposal by the deadline of April 1st to share your experiences, conclusions, analyses, practices, situations, cases, processes, research, or reflections that can have an impact on Latin American organizations, businesses, and societies, contributing to their transformation.

Please note that a limited number of concurrent sessions during the conference will be simultaneously translated in English and Spanish. You will be asked during the submittal process if you wish to present in Spanish or English.

About the International Leadership Association

With more than 2,700 members in over 70 countries, the International Leadership Association is the only global network that brings together leadership scholars and researchers, educators and students, coaches and consultants, public leaders and executives. Why does ILA bring people together? Because when we share our unique perspectives, experiences, and knowledge we come up with better, more integrated leadership thinking, practices, and solutions that can positively impact our complex global environment. The world needs better leadership and ILA's mission of promoting a deeper understanding of leadership knowledge and practice for the greater good aims to make a difference. Join us at www.ila-net.org.
