Discussion published by David Briand on Wednesday, November 2, 2022

The next meeting of the Jewish Studies Colloquium will feature Elisabeth Gallas of the Leibniz Institute for Jewish History and Culture-Simon Dubnow, and current fellow at the Herbert D. Katz Center for Advanced Judaic Studies at the University of Pennsylvania, presenting the paper "A Jewish Bill of Indictment: The New York Black Book of 1946." The paper is available by request only. Email tauber@brandeis.edu.

The event will be held on Tuesday, November 8, 12:45pm EDT in Lown 315 at Brandeis University, and streaming live on Zoom. Registration is required for Zoom attendees. Free and open to the public. A light lunch will be served.

The colloquium provides a forum for graduate students and faculty from Brandeis University and academic institutions around the world to discuss their current research and works-in-progress. The forum engages a wide range of topics in Jewish studies from history and thought to political and national identity. Watch other colloquia here!
