

34,000 new digital images of medieval items go online

Discussion published by Dominique Daniel on Monday, January 23, 2023

"Seven institutions have come together to create a database of 34,000 new images of medieval manuscripts, books and coins. This includes over 600 manuscripts that are now online." (Medievalists.net)

Europeana hosts the collection, part of the Art of Reading in the Middle Ages project, which also includes an online exhibit.

A series of videos is available to introduce the project.