Histories of submerged Native landscapes

Discussion published by Joshua Jeffers on Friday, December 9, 2022

I am asking for help identifying any histories of Native landscapes that have been submerged or destroyed through damming or other industrial projects in the Midwest. For example, I am aware of places of significance for Miamis in Indiana that are currently submerged. Is anyone aware of research on such places, and how/why they came to be destroyed or submerged? Thank you in advance for any suggestions. Please send to jojeffers@csudh.edu
