Anthropology, Diplomacy and International Relations, Government and Public Service, Humanities, Social Sciences

The European Initiative for Security Studies (EISS) is delighted to open the Call for Abstracts for its 2023 Annual Conference. The Conference is our largest event, bringing together hundreds of academics, graduate students, and policy-makers.

This year, we are bringing EISS to Barcelona, with the kind support of IBEI.

The Annual Conference

The Annual Conference is structured around two categories of panels. Closed panels are recurring year-over-year and are pre-established by the EISS. Open panels are proposed by participants. They are intended to broaden the range of existing themes in the EISS and to provide the community with the chance to uniquely shape the programme and content of the Conference.

You can find more information in the Call for Abstract \(PDF\), or submit directly on our Indico platform.

About us

The European Initiative for Security Studies (EISS) is a Europe-wide multidisciplinary network of scholars that share the goal of consolidating security studies in Europe. It is (1) thematically-driven and open to all theoretical approaches, (2) multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary, and (3) geographically inclusive.
