New issue of Bulletin of Spanish and Portuguese Historical Studies now available!

Discussion published by A. Katie Harris on Tuesday, December 27, 2022

The latest issue of Bulletin of Spanish and Portuguese Historical Studies is now available! The official peer-reviewed journal of the Association for Spanish and Portuguese Historical Studies, BSPHS embraces a cross-disciplinary approach, publishing individual or coauthored scholarly articles of historical content and/or historical relevance in History, Literary Studies, Historical Sociology, Historical Anthropology, Art History, and similar fields.

Volume 47, issue 1 includes articles by Karl McLaughlin, Nick Sharman, and Seonghek Kang. It also includes a special dossier on "New Currents in Iberian History," with state-of-the-field articles by Michelle Armstrong-Partida, Andrew W. Devereaux, Allyson M. Poska, Erin Kathleen Rowe, Jessica Davidson, Andreas Stucki, and Joshua Goode, together with an introduction by Katie Harris and Pamela Radcliff.

Table of Contents:

Articles:

Influence and Skulduggery: What the Vetting of Inquisition Officials in 17th-Century Spain Reveals about the Family of Catalina Clara Ramírez de Guzmán (1618-c.1685)
Karl McLaughlin - Manchester Metropolitan University

Liberal Protectionism in Nineteenth Century Spain: An Alternative Route to Economic Modernization
Nick Sharman - University of Nottingham

City between a Striped Flag and a Bisected Banner: Contested Imagination of Barcelona between Catalan Nationalism and Anarcho-Syndicalism in Twentieth Century Spain
Seonghek Kang - Penn State University

Special Issue: New Currents in Iberian History

Introduction: New Currents in Iberian History: Old Boundaries and New Bridges
Katie Harris - University of California, Davis and Pamela Radcliff - University of California, San Diego

Making Women, Masculinity, Same-Gender Desire, and the GenderQueer Visible in Medieval Iberian History
Michelle Armstrong-Partida - Emory University

Peninsularity: Iberian Studies and the Mediterranean Turn
Andrew W. Devereux - University of California, San Diego
Hidden in Plain Sight: Recent Scholarship in Women’s History, Gender History, and Sexuality Studies
Allyson M. Poska - Mary Washington University

Race in Early Modern Iberia
Erin Kathleen Rowe - Johns Hopkins University

Recent Scholarship in Gender and Sexuality in Modern Iberian History: Reinforcing Agency, Locating Cross-Cultural Connections, and Integrating Sexualities
Jessica Davidson - James Madison University

From “Normalization” to Global History: Empire and Colonialism in Modern Iberian Historiography
Andreas Stucki - University of Bern

When Was(n’t) There Race in Spain: New Trends in the Study of an Old Idea in Spain’s Past, Present and Future
Joshua Goode - Claremont Graduate University

Obituaries

Obituary of John H. Elliott (1930-2022)
Richard L. Kagan and Geoffrey Parker

Book Reviews

Review of Theresa Earenfight, Catherine of Aragon: Infanta of Spain, Queen of England
Marie A. Kelleher - California State University, Long Beach

Review of Natalia Silva Prada, Pasquines, cartas y enemigos: Cultura del lenguaje infamante en Nueva Granada y otros reinos americanos, siglos XVI y XVII
Luis Corteguera - University of Kansas

Review of Sylvia Z. Mitchell, Queen, Mother, Stateswoman: Mariana of Austria and the Government of Spain
Kristy Wilson Bowers - University of Missouri

Vanessa de Cruz Medina - Universidad de Castilla-La Mancha

Andrea Davis - Arkansas State University

Andrew H. Lee - New York University