

FEATURED JOB: Assistant Professor of Teaching, Europe/World, Northern Arizona University

Announcement published by System Administrator on Friday, January 6, 2023

Type:

Home Office Notices (Jobs, Reviews)

Subject Fields:

European History / Studies, World History / Studies

The History Department at Northern Arizona University is pleased to invite applications for the position of Assistant Teaching Professor in Modern European History with the training and expertise to teach topics related to World History and/or a region outside Europe. Candidates with expertise in colonialism, race and ethnicity, histories of servitude, African diaspora, or gender are especially encouraged to apply.

The anticipated start date is Fall 2023. This is a full-time, 9-month, non-tenure track, benefit eligible position. The position is renewable with ability for promotion. Primary responsibilities for this position are to regularly teach the second half of the world history survey, the European surveys, and to develop undergraduate courses in their area of specialty. Faculty will participate in professional development and service activities of the department. Review of applications will begin on January 23 but will be accepted through early February. For more information about the position and NAU, please visit the link below and search for faculty job id# 606806.

Contact Info:

Christine M. Fredericks

Academic Program Coordinator

Northern Arizona University

The Department of History - College of Arts and Letters

PO Box 6023

Flagstaff, AZ 86011

(928) 523-9582

URL:

https://www.h-net.org/jobs/job_display.php?id=64877