

Final call for postdoc candidate 23/24

Announcement published by Dejan Marolov on Wednesday, January 18, 2023

Type:

Fellowship

Subject Fields:

Educational Technology, Humanities, Political Science, Sociology, Spanish and Portuguese History / Studies

This program is designed to advance the academic and professional careers of Ph.D. holders through collaboration with experienced research advisers and participation in multidisciplinary and international research groups together with other post-doctoral fellows.

The language of the program is English and Spanish.

Every selected fellow will deal with a specific societal challenge through attending lectures, courses, and scientific conferences while leaving time for guided research.

Most of the activities are online.. However The ESI postdoctoral program facilitates the process of academic mobility. Each candidate would be part of a research visit in Spain, Italy, Poland, the Czech Republic, Latvia, Georgia, India, Indonesia, Turkey, Cuba, or China at one of the partner Universities. During the research visit, the candidate will participate in the ESI annual conference, working group meetings, workshops and may deliver guest lectures at the host University.

In times full of challenges with the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, the world, more than ever, needs further academic advancement. The selected fellows will work on selected topics in the area of social sciences and humanities (Pedagogy, economics, education, law, sociology, philosophy, psychology, history, geography, political science, health care, tourism, music, anthropology, and related fields and their subdomains).

Partial Scholarship:

- 30 places available
- Each accepted candidate will contribute with 1,650 EUR in total.
- Travel, accommodation or other costs are usually not included. However, at some of our host Universities free accommodation is provided in this amount
