The Cooper Union leadership decided to indefinitely postpone the opening of the exhibition “Vkhutemas: Laboratory of the Avant-garde, 1920-1930” - a few hours before the exhibition was scheduled to open. Neither the decision-making process nor the timeline going forward have been made public; little has been reported on this except for this short write-up in the Architect's Newspaper. A number of colleagues on SHERA: Society of Historians of E. Euro., Eurasian & Russian Art & Arch. have written a letter in support of the exhibition; time is of the essence and we hope to have a number of signatures on it before sending it to the CU leadership tomorrow.
