

2023 Keyman Modern Turkish Studies Article Workshop

Discussion published by Mark Stein on Tuesday, February 7, 2023

From: Keyman Modern Turkish Studies Program <turkishstudies@northwestern.edu>

2023 Keyman Modern Turkish Studies Article Workshop

The Keyman Modern Turkish Studies Program at Northwestern University's Buffett Institute of Global

Affairs continues its series of virtual workshops to support early career scholars preparing an article for publication by a peer-reviewed journal. We invite applications from junior scholars working in all branches of the Social Sciences and Humanities on themes related to Turkey and its diasporas. The accepted papers will be grouped in two and matched with a panel of experts who will read the works and provide feedback at a virtual discussion forum. We will make an effort to include an expert of the writer's choice in this panel. The accepted applications will be asked to provide a draft of their work two weeks before the scheduled workshop date. The frequency of the workshops will depend on the volume of applications, and priority will be given to papers closest to completion. We expect to announce another round of applications for the 2023-2024 academic year.

+Application Deadline: February 28, 2023

+Application Details & Form: The sessions will begin in April and continue through June 2023.

To be considered for this round submit your application, including a CV and 500-word abstract of your article by February 28, 2023, through the Application Form.

If further questions or for assistance with the application form and process, please contact turkishstudies@northwestern.edu