

Using the H-Net Book Channel

Page published by Douglas Priest on Friday, May 20, 2016

The Book Channel is a book announcement service that helps readers stay informed about recently published titles in their fields. The service imports new publisher catalogs via the Edelweiss service and sorts them into 56 different category lists.

Editors can repost individual book announcement or category feeds on their networks.

To learn about what's happening on the Book Channel, follow us on Twitter @HNetBookChannel or get it touch at bookchannel@mail.h-net.msu.edu.

Submitting a Book to the Book Channel

To submit a book to the Book Channel, visit the Book Submission Form and fill it out completely. If the book you submit is already on the Book Channel, it will not be duplicated. The Book Channel only accepts submissions for books published within one year past or future from the present date.
