

Flows, Migrations, and Exchanges

Blog Post published by John Daniel Saillant on Thursday, March 6, 2014

UNC Press is proud to announce Flows, Migrations, and Exchanges, a new book series edited by Mart A. Stewart, Western Washington University, and Harriet Ritvo, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Flows, Migrations, and Exchanges will publish new works of environmental history by both junior and senior scholars that explore the cross-border movements of organisms and materials that have shaped the modern world, as well as the varied human attempts to understand, regulate, and manage these movements. Although the series will emphasize scholarship whose analysis is transnational in scope, it will also include scholarship that explores movement across intranational boundaries. The core discipline will be environmental history, but authors might also engage with scholarship in such allied fields as agricultural and rural development history, urban history, political ecology, the history of science and technology, historical geography, and natural resource policy.

Proposal submissions may be directed to Brandon Proia, Editor, UNC Press (brandon\_proia@unc.edu).
