

North Carolina Literary Review 2019 special feature topic: NC African American Literature

Announcement published by Margaret D. Bauer on Wednesday, January 31, 2018

Type:

Call for Papers

Date:

August 31, 2018

Location:

North Carolina, United States

Subject Fields:

African American History / Studies, Literature

The North Carolina Literary Review seeks interviews with and critical analyses of African American writers with North Carolina connections. Submissions are welcome on writers from any period. Proposals may be emailed to the editor before the deadline. Submit completed articles/interviews by the deadline via Submittable. Find NCLR's style guide here. Creative submissions by African American writers must be submitted through NCLR's annual 2018 competitions, as per usual; those selected for publication within these competitions will be included in the special feature section of the 2019 issue.

Contact Info:

Dr. Margaret D. Bauer, Editor

Contact Email:

bauerm@ecu.edu

URL:

<http://www.nclr.ecu.edu/issues/next-issue.html>