The InterDISCIPLINARY Journal of Portuguese Diaspora Studies (IJPDS) welcomes original contributions for the annual issue of the journal (online and print) to be published in the winter 2017. Researchers in the Humanities and Social Sciences are encouraged to submit papers in final form by September 30th, 2016.

We encourage proposals from a wide array of scholarly proveniences, approaches and perspectives that embrace a construct of Portuguese diaspora across time and space. IJPDS represents original scholarship receptive to interdisciplinary topics and theoretical contexts spanning the diversity and variety of research interests.

Manuscripts in English, Portuguese, Spanish, or French are accepted for peer review and must be accompanied by an abstract in English, as well as in the original language in which the paper is written. For submission guidelines please consult the journal's website: <http://portuguese-diaspora-studies.com/index.php/ijpds>

All submissions are double blind, peer reviewed.

Papers that have already been published or are under consideration elsewhere will not be accepted in IJPDS.
