THE SUMMER SCHOOL

The 13th Summer School in Cinema, Human Rights and Advocacy, is a training initiative jointly organized by the European Inter-University Centre for Human Rights and Democratization-EIUC and CHRA. The 10-day intense programme is aimed at young professionals wishing to broaden their understanding on the connections between human rights, film, digital media and video advocacy. The school provides a unique opportunity for participants to share ideas and foster critical thinking on urgent human rights issues, debate with experts and filmmakers in conjunction with the 75th Venice international Film Festival, and learn how to use film as a tool for social and cultural change. Cinema accreditation to the Film Festival will be provided for the duration of the school. Read More...

THE PROGRAMME

The Summer School offers an exciting programme of lectures, film screenings, discussions and working groups that combine human rights expertise with media studies and video advocacy strategies. The teaching sessions develop issues rooted in human rights and film-making. The topics of discussion vary from ethics and human rights philosophy, to the UDHR illustrated in films and a history of human rights cinema, freedom of expression and censorship, the role of media in advancing human rights causes, the use of video in human rights documentation and advocacy, production and distribution of human rights films, social documentaries and documentary film project development.
