

The Librarian on the Teaching Team

Discussion published by Dominique Daniel on Monday, December 12, 2016

Joshua Kim writes about the benefits of faculty-librarian team teaching:

"Teaching is changing. What was once a solo pursuit has increasingly become a team sport.

I'm not talking about co-faculty taught courses. Rather, the team that I'm thinking about includes a mix of faculty and non-faculty educators.

I'm here to make the case that a librarian is a key member of a course development and teaching team."

Source: Joshua Kim, " The Librarian on the Teaching Team," Inside Higher Ed, Nov. 30, 2016, <https://www.insidehighered.com/blogs/technology-and-learning/librarian-teaching-team>