

Call for Editorial Review Board

Announcement published by Marquis Grant on Tuesday, March 14, 2017

Type:

Call for Volunteers

Date:

August 31, 2017

Location:

North Carolina, United States

Subject Fields:

African American History / Studies, Social Sciences, Race Studies, Cultural History / Studies, Women's & Gender History / Studies

Editorial Review Board

Equity, Equality and Reform in Contemporary Public Education will be published in December 2017. The submission of proposals has begun and there have been eleven proposals accepted so far. If you are interested in submitting a proposal, please contact me at Marquis.Grant@gcu.edu or drmarquisgrant4@gmail.com.

As the process continues and proposals are approved, authors are notified that full chapters are due June 15, 2017. I still need individuals to serve on the editorial review board. These individuals will assist with reading and editing chapters, to include grammar, composition, source citations and formatting. If you are interested and willing to serve on the review board, please let me know via email and attach you CV or resume.

In order to serve on the Editorial Board, you must have graduate degree (i.e. masters, juris doctorate, doctorate), excellent command of English language, good experience and strong record in the field of expertise.

Duties of reviewers/Editorial Board members include following: return of manuscripts in timely manner; do not distribute manuscripts or any related information; review of manuscripts; fulfill all related tasks assigned by Editor.

Thank you

Marquis C. Grant, Editor

Contact Info:

Dr. Marquis C. Grant, Editor

Contact Email:

drmarquisgrant4@gmail.com