Call for papers for the Journal of International Relations

Journal of International Relations is a Dhaka University recognized peer reviewed journal, published by the Department of International Relations biannually. The Journal invites academic pieces on global issues ranging from foreign policy, identity politics, environment, gender, human and state security, political economy, and rights discourses.

The paper should be limited to 6,000-10,000 words typed in no smaller than 11 font size and single spaced including the Footnotes and References. The paper should follow the Chicago Style Referencing and Footnotes. An Abstract of the paper must also be attached with the paper.

The paper should be submitted by 15 May 2017. Your e-mail, institutional affiliation and position should be mentioned on the title page. The contribution must be original sent only to the Journal of International Relations and no other journal simultaneously. A soft copy of the paper needs to be e-mailed to the editor of the journal to the following addresses: amenanabeel@gmail.com and editor.jir@gmail.com.

We appreciate your cooperation in this regard.
