

Fourteenth Annual Southeast Indian Studies Conference

Announcement published by Mary Ann Jacobs on Friday, June 30, 2017

Type:

Call for Papers

Date:

January 31, 2018

Location:

North Carolina, United States

Subject Fields:

Cultural History / Studies, Indigenous Studies, Literature, Native American History / Studies, Oral History

The purpose of the Southeast Indian Studies Conference is to provide a forum for discussion of the culture, history, art, health and contemporary issues of Native Americans in the Southeast. The conference serves as a critical venue for scholars, students and all persons interested in American Indian Studies in the region.

Proposals are invited for papers, panels and poster presentations addressing the study of American Indians in the Southeastern United States cultural area. Topics may include academic or creative works on: archaeology, education, history, socio-cultural issues, religion, literature, oral traditions, art, identity, sovereignty, health and other matters. Creative works may include any written, visual, musical, video, digital or other creative production that connects to Southeast Indian peoples' experiences, histories or concerns. Proposals are welcome from all persons working or doing research in the field. Only complete proposals will receive full consideration. Individuals may submit only one proposal. See page two and three of this document for more details.
