

newspaper buildings

Discussion published by Paula Mohr on Sunday, June 3, 2018

I'm looking for examples of unusual newspaper buildings--extant or not. Examples would be the Mexico (Missouri) Ledger Building which has a oversized depiction of the paper's front page on its facade. Or the Dallas Morning News building with a large tablet on its facade engraved with a quote about the value of journalism.

Thanks in advance for any suggestions you might have.
