Seeking book reviewers

Discussion published by Robert Rabe on Monday, June 11, 2018

The JHistory list is seeking new and veteran book reviewers. I have a large number of interesting new titles on a wide range of subjects available for review. These include traditional journalism history books and some provocative titles on current media issues. If you would like to write a review, please send an email to me (JHistory book review editor Rob Rabe, rabe@marshall.edu ). Include a current vita or a list of subject areas that you would like to write about and I’ll work with you to find a good match. First-time reviewers are welcome. This is a good place to develop your skills.

thanks,

Rob Rabe