

CFP Lateral, Journal of the Cultural Studies Association

Announcement published by Eero Laine on Monday, July 9, 2018

Type:

Journal

Subject Fields:

Cultural History / Studies, Sexuality Studies, Race Studies, Humanities, Labor History / Studies

Note: The journal operates with a rolling deadline. Articles are considered as they are received.

Contribute

Lateral is the peer-reviewed, open access journal of the Cultural Studies Association. Lateral is currently published on a semiannual basis, fall and spring. This journal does not charge any type of article processing charge (APC) or any type of article submission charge.

Submission Guidelines for Authors

Lateral accepts submissions on any topic related to the field or practice of cultural studies within historical and/or contemporary contexts. Strong submissions situate their considerations of cultural practices, critical theories, and/or pedagogies within established and emerging conversations on racism, capitalism, sexuality, gender, ability, and colonialism. In addition to finished academic papers, the editors also welcome contributions that engage or have the potential to engage the multimedia and interactive aspects of the open-access, web-based platform.

Lateral does not accept submissions that are previously published or under consideration at other journals. Once submitted, manuscripts may not be submitted to other journals without notifying the Lateral editors first.

Articles should be between 4000 and 9500 words in length and prepared according to the most recent edition of the Chicago Manual of Style using endnotes. Submissions are only accepted electronically through our submission form. After completing the form, you will be asked to send a Microsoft Word compatible document to the editors at lateraljournal@gmail.com. In order to facilitate double-blind peer review, identifiable information such as authors' names should not appear on manuscripts.

Review by the editors is completed within approximately two months of receipt of manuscripts, and on average, articles sent for peer review are returned with comments within six months from original submission date. Articles are usually published within three months of final acceptance.

All articles published in Lateral are distributed under a Creative Commons license; authors retain copyright over their works and are free to self-archive or deposit submitted, accepted, or published versions of them. The journal currently uses a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International \(CC BY 4.0\) License. Under the terms of this license, users must give appropriate credit, provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. The license of each article is indicated on the article page and in article metadata.

Book Reviews

Lateral publishes ongoing reviews of books relevant to the field of cultural studies. In the spirit of Lateral and the contemporary traditions informing cultural studies, more broadly, reviewers are faculty as well as graduate students working toward advanced degrees, artists (across many different media and working within or against traditional arts-institutional contexts), and movement activists who can speak well towards the central theme and claims of the book in question.

Reviews are approximately 1000 words in length and are vetted. Reviews may be rejected if they do not meet the criteria of publishable written work. They may also be designated “revise and resubmit” or “conditionally accepted” based on the quality of the written work. We expect a turnaround time of two months and two weeks for a completed review.

Prospective reviewers should contact Book Review Editor Robert Carley at carley@tamu.edu for an updated list of available titles or to suggest a title. Please include a valid mailing address and a sentence or two explaining why you’d like to review the book.

Special Sections and Issues

Lateral also publishes timely and incisive special sections, including fora, and special issues organized and edited by guest editors. To inquire, please contact editors at lateraljournal@gmail.com.
