

Society of Appalachian Historians, Tenth Annual Meeting

Discussion published by Steven Nash on Wednesday, October 17, 2018

Date: May 19, 2019 to May 21, 2019

Location:

Virginia, United States

The Program Committee for the Tenth Annual Meeting of the Society of Appalachian Historians (SAH) invites proposals for single papers (abstracts of no more than 250 words) and entire sessions (overview and abstracts for each paper) for its annual meeting hosted by the University of Virginia's College at Wise in Abingdon, Virginia, May 19-21, 2019. The meeting itself will be held at the Southwest Virginia Higher Education Center (<https://www.swcenter.edu/>).

The Society of Appalachian Historians seeks to provide a forum for the dissemination and discussion of innovative historical scholarship on any aspect of Appalachia and encourages submissions by historians exploring new areas of inquiry. Graduate students in particular are invited to present their research at this collegial and learned gathering. Proposals will be evaluated primarily on the originality and promise of the proposed work. To promote dialogue during the conference sessions, individuals whose proposals are accepted will be expected to submit completed papers for distribution to conference attendees in advance of the conference.

The deadline for proposals is March 15, 2019.
