

A Free Online Photo Archive Explores the Middle East's Pluralistic History

Discussion published by Dominique Daniel on Thursday, November 29, 2018

"In September 2017, the American Center of Oriental Research (ACOR) in Amman, Jordan published an online archive of historical images from across the Middle East. The project is being supported by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education... The ACOR's archival images are valuable as records of change for both archaeological-cultural heritage sites (more than two-hundred are represented in Jordan alone), as well as daily life in the Middle East over the past seventy years."

Source: Jessica Holland, Muftah, "A Free Online Photo Archive Explores the Middle East's Pluralistic History," Muftah, December 11, 2017, <https://muftah.org/online-photo-archive-in-amman-is-making-thousands-of-images-public-show...>