Now Accepting Nominations for the Berkshire Conference of Women Historians' Book Prizes

Deadline for Nominations: November 1, 2017

To nominate a book, see: <https://berksconference.org/prizes/>

Description of Prizes

We invite publishers and authors to submit books published in the year 2017 for consideration for the Berkshire Conference Book Prizes.

The Berkshire Conference of Women Historians annually awards two book prizes:

- For a first book that deals substantially with the history of women, gender, and/or sexuality.
- For a first book in any field of history that does not focus on the history of women, gender, and/or sexuality.

Eligibility

- Awards are for a first book, so the author may not have previously published any other book-length work.
- A nominated book must be written by a woman normally resident in North America.
- The Berks Prizes are open to any female historian or historian who identifies as a woman.
- Submissions must be published between January 1, 2017 and December 31, 2017.
- Textbooks, juvenile literature, documentary collections, fiction, poetry, and collections of essays are not eligible for either prize.
