

New Issue: Historical Reflections \(Vol. 44, Issue 2\)

Discussion published by Young Lee on Wednesday, November 28, 2018

The latest issue of Historical Reflections is now available online.

Dedication

Elizabeth Macknight, Brian Newsome and Vivian Berghahn

<http://bit.ly/2RrrdLm>

Articles

"Give Me Back My Son!": Eleanor of Aquitaine, Emotion Talk, and the Gendering of Political Rhetoric, Linda E. Mitchell

<http://bit.ly/2QugmTI>

An Intellectual Genealogy of the Revolt against "Esprit de Système": From the Renaissance to the Early Enlightenment, Jeffrey D. Burson

<http://bit.ly/2P7pR6S>

A Fiction of the French Nation: The Émigré Novel, Nostalgia, and National Identity, 1797-1815 Mary Ashburn Miller

<http://bit.ly/2BCPTLK>

L'heure du laitier ou la contestation: Résistance, anticolonialisme et nouvelle gauche sur une « petite théorie » de Claude Bourdet, Fabrice Usman

<http://bit.ly/2Qo0UZh>

Migration to the "First Large Suburban Ghetto" in America: Korean Immigrant Merchants in South Central Los Angeles in the 1980s, Chanhaeng Lee

<http://bit.ly/2RlkC5h>

Please visit the Berghahn website for more information about the journal: www.berghahnjournals.com/historical-reflections

Be sure to recommend Historical Reflections to your institution's library: www.journals.berghahnbooks.com/hrrh/library-recommendations/

Free Sample Issue: www.journals.berghahnbooks.com/historical-reflections/sample

To request a free trial, please contact: info@berghahnjournals.com