

New York Labor History Association

Announcement published by Brian Greenberg on Monday, March 25, 2019

Type:

Prize

Date:

June 15, 2019

Location:

United States

Subject Fields:

African American History / Studies, Labor History / Studies, Women's & Gender History / Studies, Economic History / Studies, Political History / Studies

BARBARA WERTHEIMER PRIZE IN LABOR HISTORY

To recognize serious study in labor and work history among undergraduate students, the New York Labor History Association annually awards the Barbara Wertheimer Prize for the best research paper written during the previous academic year. Wertheimer was a leading labor educator and scholar.

BERNARD BELLUSH PRIZE

The Bernard Bellush Prize recognizes outstanding scholarship by graduate students in labor and work history. Please submit either a graduate paper or a chapter from a full dissertation. The Bellush Prize honors the contribution to labor history made by Bernie Bellush, as a scholar and as an activist.

Both the Bellush and Wertheimer Prize provide an award of $250 for the best research paper written during the 2018-2019 academic year. An abstract of each paper will be posted on the NYLHA website. Faculty, please encourage your graduate and undergraduate students to submit their work. Entries will be evaluated on the basis of scholarship and literary merit.

Entrants should send (email acceptable) one copy of their paper to:

Brian Greenberg

18 Borden Street

Shrewsbury, NJ 07702

Email: bgreenbe@monmouth.edu

The deadline is June 15, 2019.

Contact Info:

Brian Greenberg

18 Borden St.

Shrewsbury, New Jersey 07702

Contact Email:

bgreenbe@monmouth.edu