

New Books Network Seeking Podcast Hosts

Announcement published by Marshall Poe on Monday, April 8, 2019

Type:

Call for Volunteers

Massachusetts,

Date:

April 5, 2019 to May 5, 2019

Subject Fields:

Area Studies, Humanities, Fine Arts, Social Sciences, Public Policy

The New Books in Network (<https://newbooksnetwork.com>) is currently seeking hosts interested in conducting interviews with authors of new books in the following subjects:

African Studies

Anthropology

Archaeology

Architecture

Art

Asian American Studies

Australian/NZ Studies

Biblical Studies

British Studies

Central Asian Studies

Communications and Media Studies

Critical Theory

Dance and Theater

Drugs, Addiction, and Recovery

Eastern European Studies

Education

Environmental Studies

European Studies

Food

Gender Studies

Genocide Studies

Geography

History

Intellectual History

Jewish Studies

Language
Latin American Studies
Latino Studies
Law
Mathematics
Middle Eastern Studies
Native American Studies
Pop Culture
Public Policy
Russian and Eurasian Studies
Science
Science, Technology and Society
Sociology
Sports
World Affairs

Hosting on the NBN is a good way to bring the work of colleagues to the attention of large audiences. Interested parties should write Marshall Poe at marshallpoe@gmail.com.

The New Books Network is a non-profit consortium of 84 author-interview podcasts focused on academic books. The NBN serves one million episodes a month to a worldwide audience. Its mission is outreach and public education.

Contact Info:

Marshall Poe, New Books Network, 9 Cherry Street, Northampton, MA 01060

Contact Email:

marshallpoe@gmail.com

URL:

<https://newbooksnetwork.com>