H-Diplo Syllabus Archive

Page published by Jordan Smith on Monday, January 26, 2015

Welcome to the H-Diplo syllabus archive. This page is a dynamic and growing resource where users can submit sample syllabi for the community. Our goal is that these syllabi help scholars better understand how others are shaping their courses, see what readings are being assigned, and what topics are covered. This page will be updated as you H-Diplo community members contribute your syllabi. To contribute a syllabus, please email H-Diplo's Teaching Editor Andrew Szarejko at andrewszarejko@gmail.com.

For similar resources, users can consult syllabus archives maintained by the American Historical Association, the American Political Science Association, the International Studies Association, and the Society for Historians of American Foreign Relations.