

Free Online Resource: Oral History Primary Source Reader

Discussion published by Jessica Taylor on Monday, March 23, 2020

Hi! A while back, I asked for contributions to an open access all-oral history primary source reader aligned with high school standards of learning. Well, here it is, with over twenty different oral history centers and organizations represented! I'm hoping that some people in the South and Virginia will find it useful as they transition to online teaching. Thanks for all the wonderful advice and help on this project! Without further ado: <https://vtechworks.lib.vt.edu/handle/10919/96912>