

Participate in an Archival Research Study

Announcement published by Betts Coup on Wednesday, April 29, 2020

Type:

Call for Volunteers

Massachusetts,

Date:

April 28, 2020 to August 1, 2020

Subject Fields:

Art, Art History & Visual Studies, Cultural History / Studies, History Education, Intellectual History, Library and Information Science

Are you missing doing archival research? Interested in talking about how you find archival collections?

I'm Betts Coup, Processing Archivist from Houghton Library at Harvard College. I'm interested in understanding how researchers begin archival research and interact with finding aids. My findings will help archivists to serve you better and will impact the archival academic field!

My colleagues and I would be grateful if you could provide us with your insights and thoughts during a remote interview of about forty-five minutes, carried out via Zoom at a time that is convenient for you.

We value your thoughts on finding aids and your input will have a direct impact on how we make archival collections accessible! If you are willing to be interviewed, please fill out this brief Google form.

Sincerely,

Betts Coup

Betts Coup (she/hers)

Processing Archivist

Houghton Library, Harvard University

Contact Email:

elizabeth_coup@harvard.edu

URL:

<https://forms.gle/LphFe3QKJpERd1qD8>