

CALL FOR PROPOSALS: #RecordCovid19: Historicizing Experiences of the Pandemic

Announcement published by Rabea Rittgerodt on Monday, October 19, 2020

Type:

Call for Papers

Date:

April 2, 2021

Location:

United Kingdom

Subject Fields:

Cultural History / Studies, Humanities, Journalism and Media Studies, Political Science, Public History

For a new edited collection with De Gruyter based on the #RecordCovid19 Project we are inviting contributors to submit proposals historicizing the experience of the pandemic. We particularly seek chapters based around themes that emerge from the first-hand accounts submitted to #RecordCovid19 as well as wider research. Contributors will ideally come from a range of disciplines including history, sociology, political science, linguistics, and media studies. Interdisciplinary approaches are particularly welcome. Proposals should be inspired but not limited by the themes arising from the #RecordCovid19 Project.

Proposals for chapters are welcome by early career scholars as well as established researchers alike. Final chapters should be around 4,500 - 5,000 words.

Proposal Deadline: 20 November 2020

For proposals accepted the final deadline for completed chapters:
1 March 2021
