

Mobilisation for Hate? Visions of society and small steps towards violence

Announcement published by Daniel Edmonds on Friday, November 20, 2020

Type:

Seminar

Date:

December 2, 2020

Subject Fields:

Holocaust, Genocide, and Memory Studies, Race / Ethnic Studies, Race Studies, Political History / Studies

'Mobilisation for Hate? Visions of society and small steps towards violence' will be a chance to hear from experts on both contemporary and historical racialised violence. The event will feature discussions on the relationship between collective violence and the socio-political contexts that facilitate it, and the ways in which participation in collective violence has developed both historically and today.

The event will comprise a series of presentations and a panel discussion from experts, with time for questions and contributions from attendees. The speakers list includes:

- Dr Joe Mulhall- Senior Researcher at HOPE not Hate and author of 'The International Alt-Right: Fascism for the 21st Century?'
- Professor Larry Ray- Emeritus Professor of Sociology at the University of Kent, and author of 'Violence and Society'
- Members of the Compromised Identities research team

This webinar will be hosted on Zoom, on December 2nd at 5:30pm GMT. For more information, and to register for a free ticket, please click here.

Contact Email:

d.edmonds@ucl.ac.uk

URL:

<https://compromised-identities.org>