

Invitation- The New Weird and HBO's Lovecraft Country: An Online "Horror Hour" with Rebekah Sheldon, Sean Grattan, and Bethany Doane

Discussion published by Meghan Vicks on Wednesday, November 25, 2020

Dear all,

I would like to invite you to a free online event that may be of interest to subscribers of H-Afro-Am:

The New Weird and HBO's Lovecraft Country: An Online "Horror Hour" with Rebekah Sheldon, Sean Grattan, and Bethany Doane

Thursday, December 3, 2020; 6pm ET (Zoom Webinar)

The event is free and open to the public, but registration is required

To register and learn more, visit: <https://borderlinesopenschool.org/events1/lovecraft>

Event Description: Rebekah Sheldon, Sean Grattan, and Bethany Doane come together to discuss and analyze the New Weird and HBO's Lovecraft Country. Their discussion will be organized around the close reading of numerous clips from the series, which will be screened during the event. A Q+A session will wrap things up, during which all attendees will have the opportunity to participate. Join us for a horror hour of serious, playful, and weird—genre-transgressing—analysis of one of 2020's most popular shows. More info + link to free registration is here.

This event is hosted by Borderlines Open School for Advanced Cross-Cultural Studies, a new nonprofit organization that aims to offer the general public, students, teachers, and professors alike affordable opportunities for engaging with and developing advanced and creative scholarship outside of the usual university system. To learn more about this new initiative, please see our FAQs. You may also email me with any questions.

All best,

Meghan Vicks (mvicks@borderlinesfoundation.org)