

AAR-Buddhist Pedagogy Seminar

Announcement published by Gloria Chien on Monday, November 30, 2020

Type:

Conference

Date:

December 9, 2020

Location:

United States

Subject Fields:

Area Studies, Humanities

Dear Colleagues,

A silver lining of this year's AAR virtual meeting is that scholars can attend the conference with less expense and still enjoy robust discussions. The Buddhist Pedagogy Seminar committee is looking forward to having conversations with you about innovative ways to teach Buddhism in the modern classroom. The 2020 seminar will first have two 20-minute paper presentations and then three 10-minute roundtable presentations on Wednesday, December 2nd, from 11:00 am-1:00 pm EST. The topics are below.

Nathan McGovern, University of Wisconsin, Whitewater

Teaching Buddhism Alongside Islam in the Intro to Asian Religions Class

Elizabeth Guthrie, University of Waterloo

North American Religious Studies and "Built Pedagogy"

Alyson Prude, Georgia Southern University

Engaging Buddhist Ethics to Engage Students

Andrew Housiaux, Tang Institute at Andover

Mahāpajāpatī, Misconceptions, and Religious Literacy: Reflections on an Early Buddhist Story

Ivory L. Lyons, University of Mount Union

The Mandala Project: A Class Activity

Information for each presentation can be found here:

<https://papers.aarweb.org/online-program-book?keys=Buddhist+Pedagogy+Sem...>

See you next week,

Leadership

Chair

Gloria Chien; Trung Huynh

Steering Committee

Todd Lewis; Beverley McGuire; Ben Van Overmeire; Jonathan Young

Contact Info:

Gloria Chien, Assistant Professor, Religious Studies, Gonzaga University

Contact Email:

chien@gonzaga.edu

URL:

https://papers.aarweb.org/online-program-book?keys=Buddhist%20Pedagogy%20Seminar&field_time_slot_target_id=All