

[\[Webinar\] US Election Results and Implications for Taiwan: A One Month Assessment](#)

Discussion published by Helen Jiang on Saturday, November 28, 2020

What does a change of guard in Washington mean for the special US-Taiwan relationship? What issues are at stake and how are they likely to be impacted by a Biden administration versus a Trump administration?

Join the Sigur Center for Asian Studies for a discussion with influential experts in the US and Taiwan for their perspectives on what we can expect as we look ahead to the next four years on topics from cross-strait relations, US-Taiwan free trade agreement, and post-pandemic recovery.

Welcome Remarks: Benjamin D. Hopkins, Director, Sigur Center for Asian Studies

Expert Panel:

- Presidential Change in Washington: Continuity or Change in US-Taiwan Relations?: Robert Sutter, Professor of Practice of International Affairs, GW
