The North American Coordinating Council on Japanese Library Resources (NCC) has been expanding and improving access to Japanese research materials for scholars outside Japan for the past 30 years. NCC needs your help, as we explore restructuring options in order to better meet the needs of the Japan Studies community and improve our efficiency as a coordinating organization going forward. To that end, we are soliciting your feedback with this survey: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/D85BJ2K>

Please forward this survey link to anybody you know who may be interested, including faculty at your institution and any other colleagues within the Japan Studies community. We want to include as many voices in this discussion as possible. Thank you!
