

CFP - Laberinto Journal - Special Issue

Discussion published by Daniel Holcombe on Wednesday, February 3, 2021

Laberinto Journal: An Electronic Journal of Early Modern Hispanic Literature and Cultures

Call for Papers

Climate Change and Globality in Hispanic Early Modernity -
Globalidad en la temprana modernidad hispánica

Deadline for submissions: 15 July 2021

Climate Change and Global Studies are important curricular components of an increasing number of universities in the United States and elsewhere. Laberinto Journal, <http://laberintojournal.com>, will publish a special issue on Climate Change and Global Studies in the Hispanic world, seeking to address recent developments in climatology, historiography, geography, biology, etc., as applied to early modern literature and cultures. The selection process ensures that all submissions are double peer reviewed. Please send your manuscripts for consideration to both Juan Pablo Gil-Osle at jgilosle@asu.edu and Daniel Holcombe at daniel.holcombe@gcsu.edu.

Laberinto Journal is a peer-reviewed academic publication sponsored by the Arizona Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies (ACMRS), the School of International Letters and Cultures (SILC) at Arizona State University, in conjunction with the Spanish and Portuguese Section within SILC. <https://www.acmrs.org/journals/>.

Laberinto Journal is indexed in the MLA International Bibliography, ITER bibliography, and the Open Journal System (hosted by the University of Toronto Libraries).