The MHR is a peer-reviewed, online, open-access journal which showcases cutting edge research in the Arts and Humanities. We are accepting submissions from authors at any stage of the research process, but we are particularly interested in work by post-graduates and ECRs. While The MHR's focus is primarily historical, we are an interdisciplinary journal and welcome submissions that explore history through innovative methodologies, utilise new evidence, and traverse different disciplines. We are happy to discuss initial ideas or abstracts, as well as drafts and plans.

The MHR operates a rolling submission policy and, as such, we have no submission deadlines.

Currently, we are accepting:

- Original articles, ideally between 4,000 and 10,000 words
- Book Reviews, around 1,500 words
- Conversational pieces, 1,800 words or less
- Historiographical summaries between 5,000 and 8,000 words
