

CFP: Using Applied Social Science Methodologies to Conserve the Historic Environment: Can Evidence Change Practice?

Announcement published by Jeremy Wells on Monday, September 14, 2015

Type:

Call for Papers

Date:

September 28, 2015

Location:

North Carolina, United States

Subject Fields:

Anthropology, Historic Preservation, Psychology, Sociology, Urban Design and Planning

Deadline for submissions: September 28, 2015

Organization: Historic Environment Knowledge Network, Environmental Design Research Association (EDRA)

This day-long conference intensive at the Environmental Design Research Association's annual conference (EDRA47) will address the question of how critical heritage studies theory can and should change the practice of the conservation of the historic environment (built heritage and cultural landscapes).

Accepted presenters will be invited to submit a full paper; selected papers will then be published in an edited volume.

For more info, see: <http://heritagestudies.org/intensive>

Contact Info:

Jeremy Wells, Assistant Professor of Historic Preservation, Roger Williams University

Contact Email:

jwells@rwu.edu

URL:

<http://heritagestudies.org/intensive>