Sahapedia announces the Cultural Mapping Conference, as part of the Culture For All Festival 2021. Featuring 15 papers across 4 sessions, the conference will present research primarily from South Asia with some papers discussing experimental mapping techniques in Africa and Europe. Sessions will be chaired by academicians from among our collaborators and promise to interrogate, reflect and discuss the complex questions of who, what, how and for whom to map culture.

Sahapedia is collaborating with Centre for Social Studies (CES) at University of Coimbra, Azim Premji University, The Centre for Internet and Society and the Re-Centring AfroAsia Project at the University of Cape Town for this 2-day Conference on September 28 and 29.
