

Hamsa. Journal of Judaic and Islamic Studies, # 8 \(2022\) : Arabists and Hebraists \(18th - 20th century\)

Announcement published by Madalena Vaz Freire on Wednesday, September 29, 2021

Type:

Call for Papers

Date:

February 28, 2022

Location:

Portugal

Subject Fields:

Arabic History / Studies, Islamic History / Studies, Jewish History / Studies

Looking for new contributions about the theme within the universe of Arabic and Hebraic studies, the next volume of HAMSAs will be dedicated to the topic Arabists and Hebraists (18th -20th century). It is intended to summon up Arabists and Hebraists whose activity was developed inside or outside the Academy, also encompassing those who work in a solitary way or in non-traditional more and less ephemeral groups, or alternative networks. The chronological range extends from the 18th to the 20th century, allowing the inclusion of the beginning of modern Arabic and Hebraic studies, in Europe, Middle East and new American states, as also others less obvious regions of the world.

The papers should be sent to hamsa@uevora.pt

Editors: André Silva, Centro de Investigação Transdisciplinar «Cultura, Espaço e Memória» (CITCEM); Joana Gomes, Instituto de Filosofia da Universidade do Porto; Michel Kabalan, Instituto de Filosofia da Universidade do Porto.

Contact Email:

hamsa@uevora.pt

URL:

<https://journals.openedition.org/hamsa/2460>