

Telesis Habitation - University of Oklahoma Christopher C. Gibbs College of Architecture Student Journal

Announcement published by Ben DeCuyper on Tuesday, October 5, 2021

Type:

Call for Papers

Date:

November 1, 2021

Location:

Oklahoma, United States

Subject Fields:

Architecture and Architectural History, Environmental History / Studies, Geography, Urban Design and Planning, Urban History / Studies

Invitation to Contribute

For its forthcoming volume, vol. IV Habitation, the Telesis team is curating a striking collection of design proposals, artworks, essays, stories, design poems, and other media that evoke encouragement, inspiration, and urgency related to the future of habitation.

About Telesis

The student journal of Gibbs College, Telesis was conceived by University of Oklahoma students in 2018 as the reincarnation of OU Architecture's student journal from the 1970s, a then playful and irreverent publication. Our hard work, and the generosity of contributors from outside the University of Oklahoma, has received recognitions including the Douglas Haskell Award for Student Journals in 2019 and, most recently, a Graham Foundation grant. Telesis's mission is to provide a forum for students to draw connections that transcend immediate events. It includes outside contributions to reinforce the journal's role as a public square.

How to Contribute

Please email your contribution to telesisou@gmail.com and please CC bendecuyper@ou.edu

Contact Info:

The Telesis Team - Currently led by Ben DeCuyper - bendecuyper@ou.edu - Adjunct at the University of Oklahoma Christopher C. Gibbs College of Architecture

Contact Email:

telesisou@gmail.com

URL:

<https://gibbs.oucreate.com/architecture/gibbs-college-student-journal-announces-call-for-submissions-2/>