

NYPL Doc Chat: Reframing Columbia Eneutseak, Decentering the Imperialist Gaze

Announcement published by Julie Golia on Tuesday, October 12, 2021

Type:

Lecture

Date:

October 14, 2021

Location:

New York, United States

Subject Fields:

American History / Studies, Cultural History / Studies, Indigenous Studies, Art, Art History & Visual Studies

On the next episode of Doc Chat, Thursday, October 14 at 3:30pm, NYPL's Emily Walz and Elizabeth Cronin are joined by historian Lisa Blee to examine the life and image of the Inuit performer Nancy Columbia (also known as Columbia Eneutseak), and explore how she appealed to and defied stereotypes as an Indigenous woman in modern American society.

Doc Chat is a weekly, 30-minute program series from the New York Public Library that digs deep into the stories behind the Library's most interesting collections and highlights ways that teachers can incorporate them into the classroom.

Register for this program here, and explore upcoming Doc Chat episodes here.

Contact Info:

Julie Golia, PhD

Curator of History, Social Sciences, and Government Information, The New York Public Library

Contact Email:

juliegolia@nypl.org

URL:

<https://www.nypl.org/events/programs/2021/10/14/doc-chat-episode-34-reframing-columbia-eneutseak-decentering-imperialist>