H-Diplo Publication Schedule, 18 to 29 October

Discussion published by Diane N. Labrosse on Sunday, October 17, 2021

The H-Diplo publication schedule for the period 18 to 29 October is as follows:

Week of 18 October:

   Introduction by: Robert M. Hayden, University of Pittsburgh

   Reviewed by

   Yuval Benziman, The Hebrew University of Jerusalem Israel

   Siniša Malešević, University College, Dublin

   Sara Dybris McQuaid, University of Copenhagen.

   Monika Palmberger, Universität Wien

   From Normandy to Berlin to Buenos Aires to Helsinki

   Essay by Stephen G. Rabe, Emeritus, University of Texas at Dallas

3. The H-Diplo/ISSF Policy Series: America and the World: The Effects of the Trump Presidency

   Death Grip Handshakes and Flattery Diplomacy: The Macron- Trump Connection and Its Larger Implications for Alliance Politics

   Essay by Kathryn C. Statler, University of San Diego

   Reviewed by: Kei Koga, Nanyang Technological University

Reviewed by David A. Messenger, University of South Alabama

Reviewed by Jacques E. C. Hymans, University of Southern California

Introduction by Valerie M. Hudson, Texas A&M University

Reviewers:

Joshua D. Kertzer, Harvard University

Marika Landau-Wells, University of California, Berkeley

Janice Stein, University of Toronto

Week of 25 October:

Introduction by Thomas Maddux, Emeritus California State University Northridge

Reviewers:

Brian Casserly, Bellevue College

Chris Foss, Washington State University Vancouver

Amy Rutenberg, Iowa State University

Rosella Cappella Zielinski, Boston University

Vietnam, Watergate, and the Emergence of Holocaust Studies

Essay by Christopher R. Browning, professor emeritus, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Reviewed by Roel Frakking, Royal Netherlands Institute of Southeast Asian and Caribbean Studies

Reviewed by Marc Gallicchio, Villanova University.

Reviewed by Erica De Bruin, Hamilton College

Reviewed by Aroop Mukharji, Tufts University and the Harvard Kennedy School.

Regards,

Diane Labrosse, H-Diplo managing editor